

The FWD petition should be approved by the FCC. Data packets are data packets and just like email, instant messaging, ftp, and numerous other forms, styles, and manners of communication transmission that are not regulated, VoIP data that does not touch the circuit-switched system (PSTN) should not be subject to regulations imposed on standard telecommunications services. The FWD-Pulver system has nothing in common those services, and should remain exempt from PSTN-based regulations.
